

The Gilman Study Abroad Scholarship for Community College Students

In the interest of working closely with colleagues with the same agenda, CCID is collaborating with IIE to market the Gilman International Scholarship Program. The Gilman Scholarship Program hosts one-day workshops to provide faculty and administrators with the tools to help increase the numbers of underrepresented students who study abroad.

IIE will be holding workshops in Houston prior to the CCID Annual Conference in February 2010. They are specifically targeting community colleges and underrepresented institutions.

The Advisor Workshop is offered at no cost, and is designed to provide faculty and administrators with tools to help increase the number of students who receive Gilman Scholarships on their campus. Additionally, participants have an opportunity to learn more about the benefits of study abroad and how to better advise students on the Gilman application process. All participants receive a free one-year IIE Network membership and information toolkit to assist them in increasing study abroad on their home campus.

This event will take place in Houston, TX February 18, 2010 9:00AM-2:00PM.
